

Think about it: No one "inherits" eternal life from their parents...

August 9, 2013

Dear Friend,

Greetings to you in the name of our precious Lord Jesus! Since you are acquainted with FaithSearch and have experienced its life-changing message, I invite you to become one of our partners in God's harvest. Your prayers and financial support can help encourage us to "keep on keeping on."

This week, my wife, Vernee, and I said our goodbyes to our son Brad and his family. They left for Ecuador to serve in the cause of Christ there. This conviction, which God placed on his and Sarah's hearts, involved selling a successful business, their home, their cars, and most of their other earthly goods. We watched with tears as they drove to the airport with all their possessions "on their backs" so to speak—in suitcases and backpacks in the back of a borrowed SUV.

Yet it wasn't a "bitter" occasion. We moved to Sioux Falls, SD, five years ago to be closer to family, including our grandchildren Joshua (15), Jacob (13), and Tessa (10). During that time they all grew closer to the Lord and the "things of this world grew strangely dim." They now want to give priority to the Kingdom of God. Of course we will miss having them around, but we are proud and pleased parents and grandparents! Nothing can be closer to our hearts than having another generation of our family serving in Christian ministry.

God Has No Grandchildren

It is a true statement that each generation has to come to Christ as His sons and daughters. No one "inherits" eternal life from their parents, from their church, or from their country—that is, as God's grandchildren. This means every generation must also have those called-out ones who faithfully and sacrificially proclaim the Good News of Jesus to their contemporaries.

Our volunteers and supporters have been faithful for years, establishing and enabling our current generation of ministry workers.

Future FaithSearch ministry will go wherever God calls, in ways we can only imagine now. This includes targeting the more than one billion people in India, where Reuben David serves in addition to being an evangelist in the USA.

In the USA, the next generation of FaithSearch evangelists (including Scott Boeser, above) is already proclaiming the Gospel with evidence.

That's why Jesus said, "The harvest is plentiful, but the workers are few. Therefore ask the Lord of the harvest to send out workers into His harvest" (Matthew 9:38).

That is happening at FaithSearch. We have evangelists and teachers—Joe, Oleg, Reuben, Scott, and Adrian—each in the generation "behind" me, to continue calling their peers to respond to the free gift of eternal life in Jesus. Our son Brad joins their ranks as well, for he will be using many of the ministry tools I have written at FaithSearch in his ministry in and around Quito.

Let the generation to come know, that they should put their confidence in God.

Yes, Don and Joe, I want to ensure that the next generation hears the truth of the Gospel with evidence.

My Two-Fold Appeal

I have two things to ask of you. Both have an eye on our mission to proclaim of the Gospel with evidence to all peoples everywhere. First, ponder planting the thought in your children/grandchildren to prayerfully consider full time Christian ministry. We have a new internship program at FaithSearch, which could give them some valuable experience to “test” these waters and use their gifts in vital Christian ministry. Please let them know about this opportunity. Perhaps they, too, will become workers in His harvest.

I also need your help for FaithSearch to continue equipping another generation of workers for the harvest. We are having a difficult summer so far. Income has dipped significantly and we could only meet partial payroll for these dedicated servants in July. A “dry” August would put our evangelists and support staff in a very difficult position as they attempt to maintain their families while remaining faithful to God’s call on their lives.

Your prayers and a gift at this time are greatly needed and would be deeply appreciated. I look forward to hearing from you again soon, as I continue to be

Your partnership with FaithSearch International enables Oleg Voskresensky to continue reaching the next generation of Russian students, teachers, clergy, and lay people. He brings the Gospel with evidence to this vast territory, spanning eleven time zones, by multiplying himself into the lives of others.

A worker in His harvest,

Dr. Don Bierle
President and Evangelist
